

“THERE IS THAT SUBTLE EMPIRE STATE FLAVOUR BAKED INTO THE DESIGN”

Lakeview House by Janey Butler Interiors “I wanted to design and create a sense of calm and luxury so our clients can come home and feel that all the pressures of their busy work schedules will be washed away. I used large format Italian porcelain tiles in this large en suite bathroom which also features a fabulous double-sided walk-in shower, as well as choosing a colour that was an almost perfect match to that of the large stone bath,” says designer Janey Butler.

KBS Residence by Nickolas Gurtler Interior Design “This bathroom is loosely inspired by the architecture of New York City. From elongated glass and steel shower screens which recall industrial windows, to the custom Art-Deco inspired mirror with wall sconces that were made in New York, there is that Empire State flavour subtly baked into the design. The bathroom is dominated by “Superwhite” dolomite stone which was selected for its highly detailed and fractured appearance.”

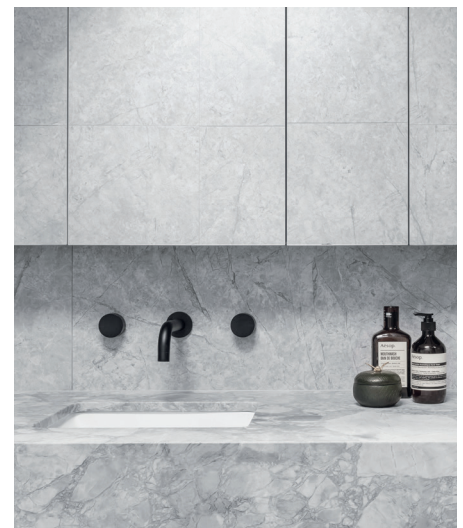

Photo Dion Robeson (photos pictured right)